Practice Summary

Satinder's practice focuses on commercial litigation, insurance, private and manufacturing liability (including industrial plant and materials, consumer products and pharmaceuticals), construction and professional negligence (legal, sports, media, accountants and finance, architects and related professionals).

The work that Satinder undertakes involves high value complex claims, often involving issues which are novel and challenging, highly technical with specialist expert issues and disputes. He has a strong interest in work within an international framework including jurisdictional issues.

Cases are usually undertaken leading a team of lawyers including specialist barristers and the work is undertaken at all levels of the court system, tribunals, mediation, arbitration and alternative dispute resolution.

His work involves acting for a diverse range of clients from high profile and professional individuals to global and national corporations and conglomerates, partnerships and other legal entities, public institution and bodies.

Commercial

Satinder undertakes a broad range of commercial disputes, insurance, manufacturing liability (including industrial plant and materials, consumer products and pharmaceuticals), professional negligence (legal, sports, media, accountants and finance, architects and related professionals). I undertake some of the most complex and valuable clinical negligence, personal injury and sports injury cases that are litigated. Many of the cases Satinder undertakes have a multi-million pound valuation and are of high complexity, sensitivity or raising novel issues.

Satinder's sports work often arises from contractual disputes between sportsmen and agents, professional negligence of legal teams arising out of representation of clients at sports arbitration, career ending and catastrophic life changing injuries to sportsmen particularly professional footballers and failings in safety in the organisation of sports events resulting in major losses and catastrophic injuries to spectators.
